RISKS HIS LIFE TO SAVE SPECTATORS

Aviator Plunges Machine Into Embankment to Prevent Slaughter of Sightseers.

BIPLANE IS TOTAL WRECK

Air Man Is Probably Fatally Injured, and His Manager Suffers Nervous Breakdown.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Bristol, Va., May 22.—To prevent the slaughter of probably fifty spectators, Anthony Jannus, the Washington aviator, twenty-one years of age, who has been carrying prominent passengers in the national capital, having had many successful flights, late this afternoon deliberately plunged his big passenger-carrying biplane into a bank at the Bristol aviation meet, and as a result lies tonight in a critical condition in St. Luke's Hospital, while his Rex-Smith machine is a wreck on the old race track at the Bristol Fair Grounds.

Jannus was thrown almost a hundred feet when his machine collided with the embankment. He was instantly on his feet, not realizing his serious condition for some minutes. The aviator landed on his shoulder and neck. He was able to get up and walk to an automobile, maintaining that he was not seriously hurt. While being taken to St. Luke's Hospital, a hurried X-ray examination revealed that his shoulder was dislocated, his collarbone fractured, and probably other injuries sustained, besides bruises.

Manager J. S. Berger was so shocked that he suffered a nervous breakdown, and was taken to the hospital. He stated tonight that he had lost a fortune by recent accidents of his aviators, and that all afternoon long he had begged and pleaded in vain with the people to get back and give Jannus a chance.

His men succeeded in clearing the spot for Jannus to land before the machine started, but in the excitement the crowd rushed back, leaving him the alternative of dashing into the people or risking his own life.

This is the second aeroplane wrecked here since last Thursday, and it is probable the meet will be abandoned.

The annual spring meet and horse show of the Virginia Racing and Horse Show Association came to an end yesterday in a veritable blaze of glory, though all of the blaze cannot be attributed to glory entirely, the sun playing an appreciable part in its distribution.

If anything, there was more enthusiasm on the last day of the meet than on the first, which is sufficient praise for the card which was offered. Both in the ring and on the track the offerings surpassed those of the opening day. Mrs. Potts continued her winning streak, with Willow King, Prince Royal and Pretty Maid playing a conspicuous part, while Golden Butterfly helped her owner in several of the events.

Harness Horses Best.

While the timber-toppers came in for the greatest measure of applause, the harness class were by far the classiest and brought out the best fields. Colonel Purcell, owned by C. T. Friend, was the popular choice, as well as the choice of the judges. This handsome bay gelding took off all the honors in his class last year, and is regarded by the experts as the best roadster anywhere hereabout.

Taking it all in all, the meet was a grand success, and reflects credit upon those who had its management in hand. While all of the fields were large, the class of animals shown in the ring more than made up for the scarcity in numbers. The events were run with precision, and the crowd was never kept waiting to find what was next.

Captain Lindsay and his troop of horse again came in for unstinted praise, the class of animals shown in the ring more than made up for the scarcity in numbers. The events were run with precision, and the crowd was never kept waiting to find what was next.

The racing card was the feature of the day, and the feature of the racing card was the two-mile steeplechase between the officers of the army. Tavon ploo, winner of the two-mile flat race Saturday, was an entrant and led the field all the way until the stretch. Then Knight of Elway, the trailer all the route, began to race and came under the wire a winner by half a length. W. Graves, president of the association, Captain Lindsay, who rode Nine of Diamonds, the touted winner, finished the first mile and was then unseated, never finishing.

The other exciting race was the second steeplechase, which was won by Bergoo, the winner Saturday. Young Blitzen, that game old steeplechaser, led the field for the first mile and a quarter, but then weakened and was passed by Bergoo and Essex, the latter two making it a neck and neck affair until the wire, when Bergoo, under the whip, came in a shoulder to the good. Jack Baker was hurt at the next to the last jump, and for a while his life was despaired of. The wound was sewed up, and it is thought he will recover.

Flat Races Tame.

The two flat races, while furnishing amusement to the crowd, were comparatively tame. Nilsson won the first six furlong handicap, with Little Ossage second and Bendage third, while Flying Squirrel, the favorite, trailed all the way. The mile race was won by Otogo, the favorite, with Port Carroll and Dr. Bert finishing in the order named.

Major Allen Potts, winner of the class for hunters and chargers, was presented with the Adjutant's Cup, donated by the Virginia Military Board. He captured first, second and fourth places in this event.

The show was a success and the officers are already planning for the next meet. The workhorse parade was exceedingly interesting and brought forth applause as the mile of horses paraded past the grandstand. W. S. Forbes & Co. captured the Kellum Cup for the best pair of horses, and C. W. Antrim & Co. secured the cup for the best pair of mules.

How It Happened in Detail.

The hunter and charger class brought out one of the finest and best fields of the meet. The officers in uniform, riding, lent color to the class. Major Allen Potts riding Willow King, Pretty Maid and Prince Royal, respectively, captured the blue, red and white, with the horses in the order named. Ben Cole's pretty chestnut gelding, owned by the government, was awarded the yellow. The awards met with popular approval.

Class 17, for pairs of hunters, furnished the thriller of the afternoon. There were no falls, but some great riding was exhibited. Her Grace and Christine, owned by E. B. Snyder, by E. L. Snyder and Mrs. M. C. Jackson, won the blue, with Black Socks and Amulet second, Willow King and Prince Royal, third, and The Quaker and Vallant, fourth.

In the class for roadsters the very best and classiest field of the meet was brought out. Colonel Purcell, one of the best roadsters in the city, and in fact, in the State, a winner last year, again captured the blue. N. J. Simpson's steel roan gelding, a splendid stepper, perfect formed, won the red. Nicketti, owned by Louis Schulerberg, got the yellow, with Kentucky Belle in fourth place.

Willow King Won Handicap.

The handicap jumping class, green hunters to jump 4 feet, horses having won a blue ribbon at a recognized show, 4 1-2 feet, caused trouble for the judges. Christine, Black Socks, Vallant and Elf King being tied. Willow King, one of the sure winners at the show, with many more blues to his credit than any other horse, was an easy first. On the jump-off Black Socks, taking the hand-cap jump at 4 1-2 feet, was second. Vallant, once known as Safe Conveyance, was given the yellow, with Christine, the pretty little dun mare, fourth. Only one of the green hunters qualified—Elf King. Willow King again took the blue in the middle and heavyweight hunters' class. Prince Royal got the red, with Razzle Dazzle, the government entry, third.

Class 2, horses shown before a four-wheel vehicle, conformation, manners and pace to count equally, was another of the hard affairs to judge. A splendid field faced the arbiters, and some time was consumed in making a decision. Kentucky Belle, a stately chestnut mare, driven and owned by D. J. Gregory, was easily the favorite of the crowd, getting applause on each go-round. This mare, while high-stepping and with good action, has a bad curve, which worked against her in the summing up.

Queen Bess, Miss Gwendoline Rutherford's black mare, was a fairly popular first. Mrs. Potts, driving Golden Butterfly, a four-year-old, bright chestnut, captured the red. Fred S. won the yellow, with Robert W. Wil-
